

Allied Mineral Products is a world leader in the design and manufacture of monolithic refractories and precast shapes. With a strong global sales and service network, our success is based on a dedication of Being There Worldwide with Refractory Solutions.

Allied's focus on quality at every stage in the production process is unparalleled. Our stringent raw material standard and quality control testing before and after each batch provides our customers with consistent products globally. We provide quick response times to any urgent request through flexible manufacturing systems at each manufacturing facility.

The Allied Advantage

- Made in the USA
- High-fired shapes
- Smooth surface finish
- Custom designs
- Cement and no cement products available
- Wide range of product offerings

Industries Served

- Specialty steels
- Vacuum induction melting

